

Placing Your Interview into Historical Context

Directions: First, answer the following overarching questions to help place your Dunbar clip into historical context.

1. How does the interview reflect the thoughts and emotions of someone who witnessed this event? (i.e. The Baltimore Uprising)
2. Does this interview accurately portray all sides of accounts following the event? Why or why not? How could it be more inclusive of all voices?
3. What prior knowledge of the historical event is required for a complete understanding of the interviewee?

Directions: Next, develop THREE new questions to ask your interviewee that would help guide your interview further. Remember, your practice transcript only includes the first forty seconds of an interview. These three questions should be questions that help place your interview into the larger context of events that transpired.
